

MemberCare AllianceSM Product Distribution Strategy Participating Producer Benefits and Guidelines

I. MemberCare Alliance Product Distribution

Chamber-member insurance producers meeting the MemberCare Alliance Participating Producer qualifications and approved by the carrier(s) will be the primary distribution mechanism for products offered through the MemberCare Alliance program.

Only approved Participating Producers will have the opportunity to participate in the MemberCare Alliance production-based lead program and only approved Participating Producers may be included in program advertisements sponsored by the carrier and the Chamber. Participating Producers may also be asked to serve on a producer advisory panel for the purpose of providing input relative to program enhancements.

Carrier representatives will be available to assist approved Participating Producers throughout the sales process. Every effort will be made to protect and enhance the relationship of approved Participating Producers and their clients. Purchasing Alliance Solutions, Inc., (PAS), the sponsoring Chamber and the participating carrier(s) will promote the valuable role of the producer in the distribution process. It should be recognized that some groups will desire to work directly with the carrier and, at the carrier's discretion, they will be free to do so. Additionally, as a condition of the product offering, the participating carrier(s) reserve the right to require product training, set production standards and/or have their representative present at product presentations. This will increase the carrier's comfort level with the representation of their more complex products.

Each carrier shall be responsible for the generation of its own premium rate quotations and will issue proposals in accordance with their established procedures.

In an effort to maintain the most valuable program possible for Chamber member small businesses, PAS and the carrier(s) will conduct periodic surveys of producers and consumers to determine the program's product and price competitiveness in the marketplace.

II. Participating Producer Qualifications

In order to become a MemberCare Alliance Participating Producer and receive the benefits associated therewith, each Producer must submit an application indicating they have satisfied the qualifying criteria and completed carrier contracts. Annual satisfaction of production requirements may be required by the carrier. Participating status will be recognized when the applicant has received approval from the sponsoring Chamber and PAS, and the carrier. Continuous qualification is required.

The participating carriers have further agreed that production into the MemberCare Alliance program will be applied toward the carrier's sales contests and/or producer bonus programs (if any).

IV. Production Based Lead Program

MemberCare Alliance Participating Producers will have an opportunity to participate in an exclusive production-based lead program.

Leads that are received by PAS or the Chamber will be distributed on a rotating basis to MemberCare Alliance Participating Producers. Preference in distribution of leads will be given to Producers who have produced business using the products offered through the MemberCare Alliance program. An actively writing Producer can expect to receive additional leads when available as a bonus for writing MemberCare Alliance business. PAS reserves the right to remove non-producing participants from the lead program. Although a Producer may be removed from the lead program, they will not be prevented from producing business into the program as long as they meet the qualifications of the insurance carrier.

PAS may periodically follow up on distributed leads to determine the competitiveness of the products offered through the MemberCare Alliance program.
